

VANNI RELIEF

RATIONALE

The ongoing conflict and hostilities in the Vanni region have caused a new displacement of approximately 300,000 as of January 2009; this is representative of multiple displacements. This has triggered significant disruptions to daily life within the area. The instability arising throughout people's livelihoods is causing either mass movement elsewhere or growing economic disparities at both the individual level as well as the community level. Health and shelter issues are also critical issues that are forcing people to live in detrimental conditions.

Concerns are rising over the safety of tens of thousands of civilians trapped in conflict-affected areas in northern Sri Lanka without safe passage out of the fighting. Officials from the UN and the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) said more than 230,000 internally displaced persons (IDPs) in the Vanni remain precariously close to heavy fighting between government forces and cadres from the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE).

Arrangements have been made to accommodate at least 30,000 families at three locations in Vavuniya District, currently there are 1,168 people from the Vanni. While most of those escaping the fighting have been moving south, others are moving north of the Vanni, towards the Jaffna Peninsula, according to Jaffna government agent; by 17 January 1,200 persons had sought refuge in Jaffna.
